An Angry Mississippian.
John H. Martin edits the New Mississippian at Jackson, Miss. He has lately returned to New Orleans from a visit to Washington, during which he made it his business to ascertain why there were not more Mississippians in the public service. He finds only one white Mississippi democratic clerk in the entire Department of the Interior, and gives his conclusions as follows:
"Mississippi has not one-tenth of her quota of appointments in the departments here, and yet when a Mississippian applies for an appointment he is told that his State has her full quota. And when we look to see who represents Mississippi we find the great number of them carpetbaggers, who never had any claim to being Mississippians and many who never saw the State at all. In the filing of that quota in Mr. Lamar's department there is one representative from Hinds county who is worthy of note. It is Eugene B. Welborne, who has a good clerkship, and was one of the negro instigators of the Clinton riot, one of the assassins that figured in that horrible butchery of the white men in Mississippi. Not one of our Congressmen sanctions these things, but they know that if they should endeavor to have this villain turned out and a democrat placed in his stead, they would be told that it could not be done; that he was under civil service. Yes, he is under civil service.
What matter that his black hands are stained with the blood of murdered men in Mississippi, when the civil service policy of a Mugwump Administration folds him under its great protecting wing, too holy and sacred to be touched or disturbed. As the criminals of old, when they escaped and could reach the church and cry, 'Sanctuary!' Sanctuary! no officer of the law dared disturb them in their holy refuge, so when our criminals, our carpetbaggers, and negro assassin in these departments can get into civil service and cry, 'Sanctuary! Sanctuary!' Mr. Cleveland and Mr. Lamar seem to consider them henceforth as too holy for the sacrilegious touch of democratic hands.
There are those in Mississippi who still mourn for their loved ones, whose scarlet life crisscrossed the grass near Clinton on that melancholy day of our reddest, saddest riot, and it may be that these mourners will feel bitterly toward those who representative in the departments of the nation, but they must remember that he is civil service and is holy now.
When I thought of the many worthy democrats in our State who sadly needed some position at which they could earn a livelihood, and when I saw the wretched class of radical carpetbaggers who hold good offices here as representatives of Mississippi, at first I felt indignant, but I was too, too hasty, and I have since learned how holy the civil service is, and that 'to the Mug-wumps belong the spoils.' At first it seemed a little strange that in the great land office of the Interior Department, with nearly 400 men and women, nearly all of them in places, I could find only one real Mississippian, a young man who I understand got in by passing a civil service examination.
It seems a little strange that Mr. Lamar should keep in that office nearly 400 men and women from a certain northern State and not do anything more for the State that first lifted him up and made him great.
But let us remember that he is a grand, great man, with lofty and far-reaching views, which we should neither attempt to understand nor criticize, and therefore let us think as gently and kindly as possible of Mississippi's idol."—N. Y. Times.

THE LATE GENERAL OF THE JESUITS.—A magnificent mass was celebrated yesterday at the Jesuits' church Gesù (Rome), for the repose of the soul of the Very Rev. Pierre Jean Beckx, the late general of the Jesuits, who died on the 4th inst. The church is one of the finest in Rome. It was erected by Cardinal Alexander Farnesi in 1575, and designed by Vignoli. The front is adorned with Corinthian pillars and composite columns, and the interior very handsomely ornamented with paintings, basso-relievos and marble pillars. It consists of a nave and lateral chapels. The high altar and the chapel of St. Ignatius and St. Francis Xavier are masterpieces of church decoration.
The high altar is crowned by a painting of the Circumcision, by Maziano. The church was crowded yesterday to witness the imposing services, among those present being the American cardinals. Cardinal Gibbons has selected as his titular church Santa Maria in Trastevere, the oldest and most noted of the Roman Basilicas, while Cardinal Tachereau has chosen Santa Maria Della Vittoria, the titular church of the late Cardinal Jacobini. The cardinals will probably take charge on Sunday, after the public consistory.

"Yes! I shall break the engagement," she said, folding her arms and looking defiant; "it is really too much trouble to converse with him; he is as deaf as a post, and talks like he had a mouthful of mush. Besides, the way he hawks and spits is disgusting."
"Don't break the engagement for that; tell him to take Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. It will cure him completely." "Well, I'll tell him. I do hate to break it off, for in all other respects he is quite too charming." Of course, it cured his catarrh.
